AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

The Superior Court of this county, Judge McFarland presiding, yesterday rendered a very important decision. It was in a proceeding when it was necessary to determine whether an insolvent debtor could be discharged from liabilities contracted prior to the passage of the Insolvency Act of 1880. Under the Constitution of the United States, no State is permitted to pass a law to impair the obligation of a contract. One division of lawyers in this State have held that the Act of 1880 is, in effect, a new insolvent law; that it provides for the repeal of all acts or parts of acts in conflict with it, and repeals all former acts by implication; therefore debts contracted prior to its passage cannot be affected by proceedings under it, for it would be to infringe the constitutional provision referred to. Another division of lawyers hold to the doctrine that the Act of 1880 is in continuation of the insolvency system of the State adopted by the Act of 1852, and that the Act of 1880 did not repeal the system, nor was it intended that it should, and that therefore all creditors credit to debtors with knowledge of the law, and hence the discharge of the debtor might be discharged of his indebtedness. He holds that the Legislature did not intend, by the Act of 1880, to utterly obliterate the system set up and maintained under the Acts of 1852 and 1870, and thus abruptly break the chain of legislation on the subject, running back almost to the origin of the Government. The State early adopted the policy of discharging honest and unfortunate insolvents from their debts, and from that time for more than a quarter of a century, and down to the Act of 1880, continuously maintained that policy. The Legislature of 1880 showed no hostility to that policy, or any desire to overthrow it. A contrary view and construction of the law would, without any imaginable reason, defeat the benefit of the law to those who knew themselves to be insolvent at the date of the Act, but had not commenced proceedings under the former acts; all those actually insolvent at the time but did not realize it, and practically all who should become insolvent within the next few years. But if the Act of 1880 is to be construed as totally repealing all former laws of that nature, still, as the contract of the plaintiff was entered into at a time when there was in full effect a law of similar character, on which could be based proceedings and a right to be discharged; and as the creditor gave the credit with the full knowledge of that law, and the right of the defendant under it, the plaintiff may be discharged on application under the Act of 1880, and that act in its operation does not impair the obligation of the contract, because, if the Act of 1880 had never been passed, the creditor's situation would not be changed toward his debtor. Of course this case will go to the Supreme Court. We give the ruling as we understand the argument of the Court justifying it. It would seem to be a correct view of the law, and will awaken renewed interest in a very interesting matter that has long been a moot question, but now settle the Court's ruling would seem to settle.

A FRANK STATEMENT.

Win. J. Davis, Chairman of the Republican City Central Committee of Sacramento, sends us a communication, which appears elsewhere. It is Mr. Davis' credit, inasmuch as he puts himself squarely in opposition to objectionable schemes known to have been in preparation in certain quarters to secure "misrepresentation" of the educational interests of the city. The Chairman has named five gentlemen for educational positions as his personal preference. If other citizens will do likewise, and suggest names of desirable candidates, the offices will in reality serve the men, and the necessity for independent action be further removed. His example, also, will to some extent avoid the difficulty he suggests with regard to early nominations, as the people can discuss the fitness of the proposed candidates if they desire, as he advises, and from among the more acceptable the committee might possibly choose wisely at a later hour, and thus relieve the candidates from the martyrdom to which the Chairman says they are liable to be exposed. But is the reason of our correspondent sufficient? Must the citizen be kept in ignorance of the action of the committee until just before election in order to defeat the "strikers"? Are the people ready to confess that they are thus placed at the mercy of the useless and vicious element? Is it wise to trust too much to the action of political committees if they are to be established?

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

The City Board of Trustees met at the new City Hall at 10 A. M. yesterday, all the members present.

Marker, Chief Engineer of the Water Works, reported that during the past week he had run the pump 158 hours and pumped 12,867,350 gallons of water.

The Mayor and Auditor, who were instructed at the last meeting to interview the District Attorney relative to the collection of taxes, reported that Mr. Carey had collected between $4,000 and $5,000, and thought he would be able to collect it all by the 1st of January, 1858, without assistance. A bill for the payment of state debts was introduced by Mr. Atkinson, and will over four weeks. That officer gets 10 per cent. of his collections, and the Board were of the unanimous opinion that he could well afford to pay his own expenses.

L. C. Chandler appeared before the Board and discussed drainage matters at length. He also wanted a crossing made over the R-street levee on Fourth street. At present there is a small bridge across the river, and the one mentioned, and the members of the Board were inclined to the belief that it is better in its present condition than it would be after the improvements asked by Mr. Chandler had been made. That officer was referred to the Street Commissioner.

Will A. Gitt appeared on behalf of a lot of Chinese residents, and asked that they be allowed to burn firecrackers and other explosive articles. He was refused, and refused to grant the request, but informed the young attorney that his clients could go upon the recent fire in Lake Como and burn all the boats there.

A resolution of intention was passed to improve J street from Fourteenth to Thirtieth, first, by graveling twenty feet wide in the center, and then paving the sides. The contract for grading O street from Third to Fourth was given to F. W. Steinmeyer.

The City Attorney took $175 safe for office, and paid it over to the State for the collection of valuable papers, evidence, etc., that came into his possession as Prosecuting Attorney. The matter was discussed for some time, and finally laid over for trial.

N. A. Kidder, Harbormaster, reported $140 collected for the month of October. The Postmaster said that during the same time he collected $100 and $50. The Superintendent of the City Cemetery made his report for the month which has already been published in these columns.

The time for receiving proposals for grading Twenty-eighth street, from K to M, was laid over until 10 A. M. to-day.

HONORABLE BENEFICENT ASSOCIATION.—The reports made at the last monthly meeting showed 124 persons helped by the Steward during the month of October, by 372 disbursements. There are now receiving aid 6 infirm men, 27 women and 48 children—in all 87. There was received by the Treasurer $145 44 and disbursed by him $157 58; balance in the treasury November 1st, $107 35. Bills for the month of November were $100 00, and $24, which were previously audited in debtors unpaid, makes the present debt of the Association $281 15. In consequence of this condition of the finances of the Society many very urgent calls for help are being daily made. Measures are being taken to ask of the public the relief so much needed. M. S. Cushman tendered his resignation as Secretary, which was accepted, and A. S. Hopkins was appointed Secretary.

Assessment for the month of December.

INTERESTING LECTURE.—Rev. P. S. Knight, of Salem, Oregon, gave a lecture on the Central Pacific Railroad, last evening to a large and representative audience. He chose for his subject "The Ear." Mr. Knight for many years was Superintendent of the Oregon State Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb. He is a fluent speaker and very entertaining. His description of the signs of deafness was most interesting and in his lecture he led the audience into the Lord's prayer in the sign language as he has seen it repeated thousand times by the unfortunate deaf mutes, was very touching.

The correct amounts are as follows: Southern Pacific, $27 30; Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, $32 40; Atlantic and Pacific, $20 00; St. Louis and San Francisco, $14.

ACTION SALE.—By order of the Sheriff, Sherburn & Smith will sell Wednesday, November 1st, at 10:30 o'clock, all the remaining stock of goods and liquors at the grocery and saloon of Wm. F. Yule, corner Seventh and L streets, together with their carriage, shelving and bar fixtures.

DECISION ABOUT THE INSOLVENT LAW.—Yesterday, in the case of Clark vs. Fervor, Judge McFarland, in a written opinion, decided that, under the Insolvent Act of 1850, debts contracted before the passage of that law may be discharged. This has been a doubtful point among lawyers.

SACRAMENTO MILITIA.

General John T. Cary has returned from San Francisco, where he attended a meeting of the Board of Location and Organization, which consists of the Governor, Adjutant-General, Major-General and Brigadier-General. The Board agreed to admit the company recently organized in this city in place of the Campionville company that has asked to be mustered out. Sacramento will then have four companies with full ranks and finely equipped, besides the Governor's Guard, or Cadets, as they are more frequently called.

In a speech he made to the citizens of this town Juan Tintas says: "Captain J. P. Brown, of Campionville, has applied to headquarters to have his company mustered out of service. He gives as a reason that it is not in accordance with the standard. In a letter to us, dated October 30th, he says the report that he intends leaving Campionville in the near future, to make a home in the United States, is not true in truth. In his own words, he says:

"I saw the report about my leaving here. I have not come to any such determination. As I have a great deal of money invested, I am going to stay and try and make my last days here as comfortable as possible. I am a citizen of the United States, and I am not bound to the country by any contract or obligation, but the Governor's Guard, or Cadets, who offered to do it for $1,500."

Fathers who are engaged in the building of the American river by James Touhey, to protect the north levee, have been completed and are ready to receive the water. They cost $6,500.

The Chinese were having quite a jubilee on the 4th of November, and the streets and ton-tones were played all day. They claim that they were celebrating a Masonic anniversary.

Sunday morning, a 1 o'clock gun at the burning of the bridge over the American river, when the air is heavy, fills the streets and houses with disagreeable and unhealthy fumes, then should be once passed immediately and enforced.

The Board of Supervisors were in session for a few moments yesterday, and L. C. F. and George were awarded the contract to build a bridge across Deer Creek for $1,479. The only other bidder was the Stockton Bridge Company, who offered to do it for $1,500.
